Pam Pyatt – St Mary

I have been teaching for a very long time. The number is too big to talk about! I am now in my 13th year at Stella Maris School, teaching in the Huruuru and Matikao teams.

Since arriving in New Zealand I have taught at several schools across the North Island from Wellington to Taupo and now Auckland, from year zero to year 8. Prior to joining the Stella Maris community, I was at St Joseph's school, Takapuna.

A little about me - my family are all grown up now and scattered across the globe. They ski and sail and I stay at home. We arrived in New Zealand when they were all quite small. Back in the UK we lived a very different life with strong military ties.

In St Mary class we all strive to get-a-long and help each other as we explore many learning opportunities. We are all on a mission together as we follow our learning paths and continue on our faith journeys.

God Bless

Pam Pyatt
